Affinity Group Credit Union CEO Tom Miller Honored by Michigan Credit Union League

Tom Miller, Affinity Group Credit Union President/CEO, recently received the Credit Union Professional of the Year Award from the Michigan Credit Union League. This award, given by the state association, recognizes an individual whose leadership and accomplishments have bettered their credit union and other parts of the credit union community.

including his own valued service to Affinity Group Credit Union.

“Tom Miller is a very dedicated CEO and is committed to serving our membership,” said Board Chairman, Michael Campbell.

“He has shared many products, services and ideas by creating Credit Union Service Organizations known as CUSO’s that have broadened the financial services that credit unions can offer to their members, both here in Michigan and nationally. He believes in the credit union spirit and supports its purpose and stands by its principles.”

Tom was formally given the award during the Michigan Credit Union League’s Annual Convention in May. He was recognized for his numerous contributions that include the founding of the first shared ATM network in Michigan for credit unions; the founder and Chairman of Mortgage Center LLC, which provides over 1.2 billion dollars in mortgage servicing to members of more than 75 credit unions; his service to the Oakland County Chapter of Credit Unions as Vice Chairman, and many other leadership roles in and outside of the credit union system,

After 40 years of service to the credit union movement, Tom has not lost sight of the credit union philosophy of “People Helping People.” Credit unions are in his blood, and he will no doubt continue to work for the success and vitality of the industry. On behalf of Affinity Group Credit Union’s Board of Directors, membership and staff, we congratulate Tom on receiving this prestigious award.
